Coxwell and Ghisher, from Wolverhampton, on the 5th of September, 1862. A madness, thousands will say—a perilous absendity, a tempting of Providence, a risking of life for no adequate purpose. One minute move of inaction—of compulsory inaction—on the part of the steersman, whose senses were failing him, and the air-ship, with its intensely rarefield gas, would have been floating untended, with two corpses, in the wild realms of space. What would have become of it? How far it would have become of it? I filedess freight, how long it would have chaffed me then.

General Steinner as a Reliance Entire States is the homeliest man on earth, as any one may see by referring to his likeness on the sifty cent postage stamps. When I was introduced to him at breaktast, he smiled—and it broke a sancer. In the course of his remarks he chanced to smile again—and it broke a plate. Out of sympathy for the handlord, I checked this calamitous cheerfulness, by defily changing the subject to funerals. But it was another matter I wished to speak of. Now, many people may not be aware of it, outside of his church, but General Spinner is a devout, and sensitively conscientious Methodist in religion, and in polities is a radical. But even the purest are not safe from calumny—as I know from my own experience. It began to be whispered around, that under very trying circumstances, General Spinner was guilty of swearing a little, sometimes. The church took the matter in hand as quietly as possible, and appointed a discreet sister (the grieving mourner of a husband and three gallant brothers shain in the war) to inquire into the matter. Instead of gathering evidence at second hand, she went to headquarters; she posted herself among a crowd of waiting ones in the General's office. The old man was absorbed in business, and working away like a steamengine. File after the of men passed before him, and be shot his decision at them in sharp, curt scatences, and then moved on. Finsilly, a tail, handsome man approached, and hand of in his documents for cramination. The General ran his eye down the pages, and a thunder cloud settled portentiously apon his cantenance. He shook his fat fiercely in the greateness, and the regular army to go and fight four years against your country, there were four months' pay coming to you from the government you so outraged, and ordering the company typing, traitrons son of a horse-tailed, and them I wouldn't do it! A New Small-Pox Tumouy—We hope, says the Ress Overest of Dec. 98th, that our physicians, especially, will take the trouble to read this article. It is well-known that eight patients have been sick at the foot of the Geiger grade lately, with what physicians have termed the small-pox. Of the eight sick, four have died and the rest are not yet recovered. Living near the place, is a Chinaman of mansual intelligence. He has seen these patients, and he says their disease is not small-pox, but is the regular bisks measies of China. He says, that in China, the disease is much more fatal to abolin them to children; that in the district from which he came, all children are exposed to it, and made, if possible, to have it. He says the like peccantion is not enforced in other provinces, and that Chinese emigrants from some of these places have brought the disease to San Francisco, from whence it has spread all over the coast. Is it not possible that this man's statement is entitled to consideration?

New Albany, Ind., March 12, 1867.

For forty years I have been afflicted with coativeness, and for the last twenty was compelled daily to resurt to lojections to secure an evacuation. In December last I commenced the use of Radway's Pills. After taking a few doses, my liver, stomach, and howels were restored to their natural strength and duties. I have now a regular movement once a day, and, although 80 years of air, feel as hearty and strong as I did 40 years ago.
